DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-3 and 10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitations "said conveyor belt" (line 13); "said belt" (line 15); "said conveyor" (lines 16-17, 19, 27, 33 and 36). It is uncertain if all are referring to "a continuous conveyor belt" (line 9).

Furthermore "said openings" (claim 1, line 10) lacks proper antecedent basis as it could be referring to either the pour openings or regularly spaced openings of the conveyor belt.

Claim 10 recites the limitation "the belt" in lines 10 and 30. There is insufficient antecedent basis for these limitations in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Art Unit: 3721

4. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Cook et al. (US 6,405,853). Cook discloses a method of converting can end shells comprising providing first 35 and second 36 tooling sets having upper and lower parts arranged in successive stations; providing continuous conveyor belt with regularly spaced openings 62; supporting the belt on first 55 and second 57 drums; driving the belt around the drums in incremental steps; providing carrier nests 65 including an array of fingers 75 to hold shells; providing a loading station 68; presenting end shell to each nest 65; providing unloading station; moving web of foil tab material; blanking tabs from material and attaching to can shell ends; see figures 1, 5, and 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cook et al. (US 6,405,853) in view of Heyes et al. (US 4,946,063)

Claim 1 contains limitations (means for driving, means for presenting, moving a web, etc.) in "means plus function" form and since they meet the analysis set forth in MPEP 2181, the Examiner assumes that applicant wishes to invoke 35 USC 112, paragraph 6.

Cook does not directly disclose reforming the region around the pour spout or means to do so but only that it is carried out in a well known manner; see column 8, lines 37-49. However, Heyes et al. provide a means and method for attaching tabs to can openings including heating means which reforms the region around the pour opening; see figures 1-2 and 5; column 5, lines 60-69.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the teachings of Heyes et al. in the invention to Cook for attaching tabs and reforming the surrounding region in an efficient and leakproof manner.

The insertion means 85 of Cook is synchronized with the tooling; nests 65 have base ring/rim 74 and ledge 71.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 10/24/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The previous rejection of claim 10 under 35 USC 102(a) is anticipated by Cook (US 6,405,853) not the invention to Heyes '063. The arguments presented are moot.

Regarding claims 1-3 and 11, Heyes is relied upon to modify Cook '853 including a means for reforming an area of a can end; see above. Note that the test for obviousness is not whether the features of a secondary reference may be bodily incorporated into the structure of the primary reference; nor is it that the claimed invention must be expressly suggested in any one or all of the references. Rather, the test is what the combined teachings of the references would have suggested to those of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981).

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
